Founder Mary Linehan, born in Birmingham, left to pursue a career in nursing and held a variety of posts throughout the London area including midwifery, school, district and occupational nursing. Even with Mary’s adventurous spirit the thought of moving from family and friends was daunting and presented a real challenge.

Mary relocated to the Island in 1993 because of her husband’s job in the Finance Sector. He headed up Barclays Bank and Royal Bank of Scotland as well as the Island’s oldest independent bank before retiring to be a business consultant. The family moved from Sunbury on Thames, a suburb of London, with their three daughters then aged 8, 6 and 18 months. The eldest two are now working as an accountant and sports therapist and the youngest is looking forward to going to University this year. All three have been educated on Island.

On moving to the Island Mary joined the team at Hospice Isle of Man and ran the Day Unit for 10 years and also “fronted” the Fundraising and PR Department. This role combined with her husband’s professional and social life took her into all areas of Island life, ranging from Government, large organisations, high net individuals, social and sporting clubs and many more creating a unique and unequalled network. Mary is now an active and passionate member of the Hospice Isle of Man Board and a Director of the Motor Neurone Association Isle of Man.

Her decision to set up B Localiom.com was born out of a desire to ensure people who have made the decision to move to the Island have a positive experience and are able to integrate rapidly into the business and social aspects of Island life therefore making the best use of their time.
